A NEW GUIDE BOOK.

The HAWAIIAN GAZETTE COMPANY are now printing a

"Tourists' Guide Through the Hawaiian Islands,"

And are prepared to receive Advertisements for the same. The Edition of this Book will be about

5,000 COPIES,

And it will have about 200 octavo pages descriptive of the Scenes and Scenery of the Group. The work is to be illustrated, and will contain from twelve to fifteen full page illustrations of Buildings and Island Scenery. It will also have a beautifully illuminated cover.

As the circulation of this work will be world-wide, among tourists and travelers, it furnishes one of the best mediums for advertising that has ever been offered to the business men of these Islands.

Advertisements will be inserted at the following rates:
Full Page, $25 with ten copies of the Guide, gratis.
Half Page, $14 with four copies of the Guide, gratis.
Quarter Page, $8 with two copies of the Guide, gratis.
Small Business Cards (1/2 page) $5 with one copy of the Guide, gratis.

Every advertiser, on payment of his bill, will be entitled to copies of the Book, as above specified.

GEO. W. LINCOLN,

THE WELL-KNOWN BUILDER, IS STILL IN THE FIELD AS A CONtractor, and is now better prepared to do any and all kinds of work appertaining to contracting or any other class of work belonging to his trade, in the same good and workmanlike manner as heretofore; having curtailed my shop expenses and still retain plenty of room to do any and all kinds of work appertaining to the building trade that may be entrusted to my care. I am enabled to do the same at very low rates, to suit the extremely dull times, and at the same time bearing in mind that what is worth doing at all is worth doing well.

Thanking the public for past favors, I remain respectfully yours,
GEO. W. LINCOLN.

NAPLES IN 1850 AND 1889.

Wonderful Changes That Took Place in the City During Thirty-nine Years.

I visited Naples, exclusively for reasons connected with the health of my family, in the winter of 1850-51.
I saw it no more until the winter of 1888-9. The change which has passed upon the city during these thirty-nine years may, without exaggeration, be called enormous. At the earlier epoch the reaction which followed the abortive efforts of 1848-9 for national deliverance, was celebrating not only its triumph but its saturnalia. Personal liberty was deprived of every guarantee, and the trial of Pica and his associates, who had assisted the king eighteen months before in establishing, as he solemnly swore, by his own free will and deliberate conviction, a free constitution, was proceeding under a government of perjury and violence, to its predetermined issues in the judicial condemnation of the patriot culprits.

But at the later period there lay upon the surface every sign not only of change, but of transformation.
There was a free press, free speech, free worship and freedom of person, with every sign of a vigorous municipal life, replacing the stagnant uniformity of a despotism, both local and national. The news, indeed, of matterial progress surpassed everything which could have been expected. The basking, loitering, lolling, loafing population, so peculiarly Neapolitan, seemed to have become extinct. The filth, which formerly made the city offensive to eye and nostril, had disappeared in great measure. In all the frequented parts of the city the population was well clad.

I made it my business to look for stockless and shoeless feet; and I found them, between young and old, in four cases only during my whole stay.
An excellent service had been organized, through the main streets, of omnibuses, trams and steam trams; and it was largely used, not only by the middle, but by the working class.
Of the butchers' shops, as the measure of the consumption of animal food by the people cannot speak in the exact language of statistics; but from the evidence of the eye I should say that they were multiplied in some proportion, approaching five to one.
Mendicancy, formerly amounting to a public nuisance, had become comparatively rare; the most importunate beggar that I encountered was a Sister of Charity.

A supply of water, faulty alike in quality and quantity, had been replaced at great cost by one of first rate purity and abundance; and, as a result, typhoid fever, formerly endemic, had been expelled from the place. In the old quarter, or cittevecchia, another vast operation was about its beginning. Lying below the level of the sea, it was still a constant or frequent nest of disease. But municipal enterprise had the remedy prepared in a great evicestation.
The recent past was sentenced to disappear altogether, and partly with change of levels, and partly with a system of powerful pumping, a new quarter was to rise.—Gladstone in The Nineteenth Century.

A Peculiar Duel.

A very peculiar preliminary to a death sentence that deserves to be put on record was that in vogue in Franconia in the Fifteenth century—that is, in the days of the ordeal, in which heaven itself was supposed to take a hand in the distribution of justice.
In case a woman had been made to suffer in reputation by a man she was at liberty to challenge him to combat, which took place in the following way:
A regular ring was formed for spectators and chairs were placed for the judges. In the middle of the ring was a hole about three feet deep, in which the man, armed only with a club, had to defend himself against the woman, who was armed with a stone weighing a pound tied up in a handkerchief and attached to a slender willow stick.
The lady had a space measuring ten feet in diameter in which to evolute and to attack.

The rules were as follows:
If the man in attempting to strike the woman touched the ground with arm or hand he made one error. If he made three such, or if the woman succeeded in disarming him, he was declared defeated, and was then delivered over to the executioner to be put to death, which was by being buried in the same hole in which he had vainly attempted to defend himself. But if the man succeeded in thwarting the attacks of the woman or in dis
